Mayor Mike Favre details progress, upcoming projects

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE STAFF WRITER

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce on Thursday hosted Coffee Call with Bay St. Louis Mayor Mike Favre, who gave an update on the city. To start, Favre said that Bay St. Louis was recently named one of the most beautiful and most affordable cities in America. On the revenue side, Favre said that there has been a slight increase, which includes revenues from sales tax and the casino.

Last year, Favre said, there were about 124 new residences built.

"That's a lot of people coming," he said. "That's huge for us and we continue to grow."

Favre said that more than 400 blighted properties have been cleaned up throughout the city.

He said the Bay St.

Louis Fire Department still has a "strong 5 rating."

Favre also discussed the changes at the police department, including last year's installation of Police Chief Gary Ponthieux and Deputy Police Chief Alvin Kingston.

The police department is now located inside city hall on the first floor, he added.

At the harbor, Favre said, the city has received funding for the deMontlizun Avenue pedestrian crossing.

In addition, the city has several other sidewalk projects beginning soon on Carroll Avenue, Beyer Drive and Washington Street, Favre added.

In addition to the sidewalk on Washington Street, Favre said, there are plans to add additional parking spaces at Martin Luther King, Jr. Park.

The sinkhole on Seminary Drive is expected to be fixed by the end of the week, Favre said, and work on the Dunbar Avenue sinkhole will begin soon after.

Other updates included: The city's new website; passage of the golf cart ordinance; and the installation of cameras and sound equipment to broadcast council meetings.

Some future challenges Favre mentioned: Finding funding for a new police department building; matching grant funds; and road and drainage projects.

Kiln Utility and Fire District in legal battle with Utility Authority over water rates

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE STAFF WRITER

Hancock County Utility Authority Executive Director David Pitolo on Monday began budget talks with the board of directors.

He told the board to expect the water budget to go up due to possible upcoming litigation with the Kiln Utility and Fire District.

Board attorney Heather Smith told the board that – from her perspective – this will be "full-blown" litigation with trial dates and depositions.

"Essentially, what would happen is, the rate's going to have to go up," Smith said. "The way y'all have always done it is there has to be the same rate. Does it have to be like that? No. But you have a problem right now with the Kiln still not paying right now what they should be paying. Still, every month, they are changing the fees and under-paying every month."

On May 10, 2016, the Hancock County Utility Authority Board – which at the time was comprised of Josh DeSalvo (Hancock County Water and Sewer District), Les Fillingame (Bay St. Louis), James Lamy (Pearlington Water and Sewer District), Shane LaFontaine (Waveland), Scotty Adam (Hancock County Board of Supervisors) and Patricia Cuevas (Kiln Utility and Fire District) – voted to instruct Smith to compose a contract for the proposed purchase of water from the Kiln Utility and Fire District, according to the board's minutes. Adam was absent from that meeting.

In a letter dated May 11, 2016 to the Kiln Utility and Fire District, the Hancock County Utility Authority proposed the following:

A man was arrested early Friday morning for driving under the influence and leaving the scene of an accident in Hancock County that badly injured another man.

Officers of the Mississippi Highway Patrol arrested Gary Keith Gulus, 43, at around 4:30 a.m. Friday, charging him with DUI: First offense; driving without a license; speeding; reckless driving; and two counts of leaving the scene of an accident involving injury or death.

According to a press release from MHP Public Affairs Officer MSgt. Justin C. Elkins, the Highway Patrol, the Mississippi Highway Patrol investigated a crash in Hancock County that occurred on Interstate 10 eastbound, near mile marker 10, at approximately 1:30 a.m. Friday,

State to recognize Cedar Point's historic relevance

BY GEOFF BELCHER NEWS EDITOR

The Mississippi Department of Archives and History will host a ceremony next Saturday, July 21, to dedicate a Magnolia marker at Bay St. Louis' scenic Cedar Point.

"Cedar Point played an important role in the development of Bay St. Louis," Dot Larroux Kersanac -- who led the crusade to get the marker -- said last week.

Kersanac is a Cedar Point native and former teacher and respiratory therapist.

"Located in the northern part of Bay St. Louis, the area known as Cedar Point developed in the late 1880s when G.W. Dunbar and Sons built a seafood cannery near the end of Dunbar Avenue," according to the marker. "In 1909, the Peerless Oyster Co. opened at the present-day site of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. Other structures located here include the St.

Weekend events include Frida Fest and CASA Poker Run

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

It's a big day in the Bay, with three major events planned that organizers say will draw participants from all across the Gulf Coast -- the fifth annual Bay St. Louis Triathlon, fifth annual CASA Poker Run, and fourth annual Frida Fest/Second Saturday Artwalk.

Frida Fest, scheduled from 4-8 p.m. today, Saturday, is the brainchild of Smith & Lens owners Ann Madden and Sandy Maggio.

"Frida Fest came to be four years ago when her personal belongings were photographed and it was all over the news," Madden said. "Diego Rivera had everything locked away until 50 years after his death.

"Second Saturday was already in place and Sandy and I thought it would be fun to do a Frida-themed Second Saturday to honor her birthday. We are both fans of her art and greatly respect all that she overcame -- polio, the bus accident, the leg amputation, the volatile marriage to Diego Rivera -- and the tremendous pain of it all to become the first 20th century Mexican artist to have a work purchased by the Louvre in 1939."

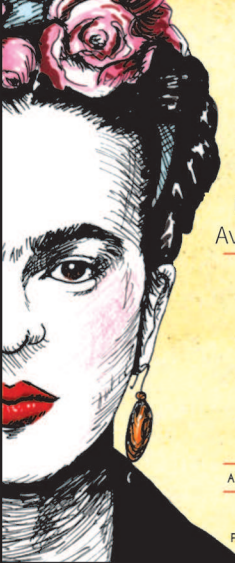

One of the biggest attractions at each year's Frida Fest is the "Frida Be You and Me" Frida look-alike contest.

"I think the festival has grown in a wonderful, grass roots, word-of-mouth way," Madden said. "The press we have received has all been positive and encouraging and we are truly grateful. Each year, we have more merchants participate and more Fridas come to town. A little bit of costume goes a long way in turning anything into a party, but our competitive Fridas spend serious amount of time on their outfits. Last year's winner, Paulette Dove,

Company offers to find 'thousands or even millions' for Bay in un-billed utilities

BY STACEY CATO
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The members of the Bay St. Louis City Council unanimously approved a city-wide utility audit at their regularly-scheduled meeting on Tuesday.

Water Company of America's Regional Manager Mike Necaise presented officials with an audit opportunity that he said could recover thousands or even millions of dollars in lost revenue for the city.

Necaise said his company helps find un-billed water and sewer revenue that the city should be billing and collecting based on current ordinances and brings it to the city's attention.

"We only get paid if we produce," Necaise said, "and we only get paid for any increased revenue we produce."

Necaise, a retired financial director for the city of Gulfport, said the company had done "very successful" work for many cities along the entire Gulf Coast, in central Mississippi, and in some parts of Louisiana. It is the only company in America, he said, that bases its work off of a percentage, leaving no risk to the city.

Necaise said he brought the company to Gulfport in 2007, where auditors found an estimated $1.4 million dollars in annual un-billed revenue. It's his company's hope to bring that value to the city of Bay St. Louis, he told councilmen.

Ward 3 Councilman Jeffrey

Reed asked how the company went about getting the information needed for the audit.

"It's kind of like looking for a needle in a haystack," Necaise explained. "We are able to identify these accounts through data analytics and bring them to the forefront."

Necaise said the company concentrates strictly on water, sewer and solid waste.

"We couldn't make money if we went out there and tried to find every water meter that you have in the ground. We'd wear ourselves and our manpower out, so we try to be smart about it and use data analytics."

For example, Necaise cited the process of water consumption at fast food chains. He said commercial utility water usage is typically estimated based on square footage. That information is input into his company's proprietary software system so when the consumption does not meet a certain amount, the system flags it, alerting auditors to the fact that something is not right with the account. The system also helps to find slow or non-working water meters which can contribute to under-billing.

Ward 4 Councilman Larry Smith inquired about the time period it would take for the company to audit a city the size of Bay St. Louis. Necaise estimated a time period of around 12 months.

"There's no risk that you'll pay money without money coming in," Necaise told the council. "If the company does not find lost money, the city pays no money."

According to the contract, Water Company of America will receive 55 percent for a period of 36 months on the under-billed accounts that are discovered. A final discovery and findings will be submitted to the city first and agreed upon.

Ward 6 Councilman Josh DeSalvo asked if the audit includes rate increases. Necaise said those accounts discovered would be subject to include any future rate increase, but only if the account was discovered to have issues at the time of the audit.

CASA Poker Run

"The Poker Run is a fun event that gets friends and families together to support the work of CASA in the community," Bay St. Louis Mayor Mike Favre, Poker Run Chairman, said in a press release.

Registration will begin at 11 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis Harbor. All participants should be back at the BSL Harbor by 5pm. Additionally, CASA will hold a small silent auction with summer/outdoor themed items and drinks will be available for purchase.

CASA is encouraging the boating community, as well as local jeep clubs, car clubs, and motorcycle groups, to participate this year. Participants purchase a poker hand for $20 and the best three poker hands get to select from amazing prizes.

This year's Poker Run stops include The Blind Tiger, Buoy Bar, Dan B's, Tripletails, Cuz's Old Town Oyster Bar, Bodega, the Ugly Pirate, Daiquiri Shak, Bay Marina, Broke Spoke, the Cannon's Camp on Jordan River, the Red Zone, Diamondhead Ship Store, Jordan River Steamer and the Bay St. Louis Harbor.

CASA of Hancock County is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization that utilizes trained community members to advocate for children who through no fault of their own are involved in the complex and overburdened child welfare and youth court systems.

CASA relies on the communities support to continue this work. Presently, 75 volunteers are advocating for 152 children however, an additional 90 children are unserved by CASA due to a lack of volunteers. CASA hopes to change this by recruiting and training at least 30 new volunteers in 2018. Although the program is comprised of volunteers, there are costs associated with screening, training and supporting volunteer child advocates. Monies raised from the poker run will ensure that the CASA program not only continues to exist but also expands to increase the number of children served.

The triathlon, hosted by Helene Loiacano's Fit First Racing, consists of an 800-yard near-shore swim; a 15-mile bike ride along Beach Boulevard with only one turn, and a 3.1-mile run along the Beach Boardwalk. It was scheduled to begin with pre-registration at 5 a.m. Saturday and wrap up with a 10 a.m. awards ceremony.

"A. Term will be for three years; B. Rate for wholesale water will be $.85 per thousand gallons for the full term of the contract. The rates would not be adjusted unless some unavoidable occurrence requires a review of the rates; C. The Hancock County Utility Authority will operate and maintain the Stennis Airport water well and elevated tank, but will not operate and maintain other KUFD water supply facilities."

KUFD's attorney Michael Haas, Jr. said Thursday a formal contract was never executed.

Smith concurred. "The Kiln board voted to take the water with that," she said Thursday. "The boards speak through their minutes, so that's where they decided."

On Sept. 14, 2017, the board - which included members Adam, Cuevas, Shane LaFontaine, Lamy, Farron Hoda (Hancock County Water and Sewer District) and DeSalvo (Bay St. Louis) - approved a motion to increase water rates to $.90 per thousand gallons. The motion passed 4-2, with Cuevas and Lamy voting "nay."

Smith said Monday that the increase was due to costs associated with a break in the water system.

"The Utility Authority per law has the duty to set the rates," Smith said. "Their only source of income is through water and sewer and they have bills to pay. If you're subject (for example Bay St. Louis) to the Civil Service Commission, then you have to get approval from them to move your rates. The Utility Authority doesn't have to do that. They can just set their rates, they don't have to get approval from anyone else."

An invoice dated Oct. 31, 2017 from the HCUA to KUFD charges the KUFD $.90 per 1,000 gallons.

However, the $.90 is scratched out, replaced with $.85 and the total amount adjusted, as with every invoice since, the latest being dated May 31, 2018.

As per the HCUA's rules and regulations, there are different administrative processes the board could take, Smith said. One would be cutting off the entire water supply to the Kiln - which the board that includes Lamy, Cuevas, Mike Favre (Bay St. Louis), Hoda, Blaine LaFontaine (Hancock County Board of Supervisors) and Brent Anderson (Waveland) has chosen not to do.

"That would be almost 1,700 people that would have no water service," Smith said.

Earlier this year, the HCUA filed in justice court for debt collection, Smith said.

According to the April 12, 2018 judgement - rendered by Judge Desmond Hoda - the court found that "a judgement of $3,060.92 should be rendered in favor of the HCUA against KUFD."

On April 20, Haas filed a Notice of Appeal in County Court of Hancock County on behalf of KUFD.

During Monday's meeting, Cuevas said "the main sticking point is that Bay St. Louis and Waveland are not buying water, so therefore it's driving the price up."

Haas said Thursday the water system is "huge and capable of serving all of Hancock County, including Bay St. Louis and Waveland."

The entities that currently purchase water are KUFD, Pearlinton and Hancock County Water and Sewer District.

"They (Bay St. Louis and Waveland) have always had an excuse not to buy," Haas said. "To raise rates a nickel per 1,000 gallons for a water break, imagine what would happen if there's a big break out there costing hundreds of thousands of dollars? Our (KUFD) board are of the position that Bay St. Louis and Waveland need to pay. If they have to raise the rates, sure, but Bay St. Louis and Waveland aren't paying their fair share."

Haas said when the HCUA was created after 2005's Hurricane Katrina, the plan was for everyone to pay equally and Bay St. Louis and Waveland didn't pay.

Smith concurred Thursday that the HCUA was created for everyone.

In 2006, Smith said the Department of Environment Quality sent out contracts to Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

"No council ever approved them, so they're not valid," Smith said. "The city has zero legal obligation to purchase."

Smith added that all entities do participate, whether it be for sewer, water or both.

"Bay St. Louis and Waveland operate and control their own systems, they don't need water at this point," Smith said.

Cuevas said Monday she thinks the KUFD and HCUA boards should "sit down and try to come up with some kind of resolution. Because nobody wants to back down, because it's all a matter of principle. That's all it is, it's a matter of principle."

Three celebrate 293 years of faith

Saturday, December 16, 2017 was a banner day for Mildred Granger Carriere as 300 hundred devoted friends gathered in the Family Life Center of Holy Ghost Church to celebrate her elite arrival as a centenarian. She received a proclamation from Opelousas Mayor Reggie Tatum, declaring the day Mildred Granger Carriere Day in the city of Opelousas. Mildred still got around reasonably well and her health was still fair, though not robust. Most important of all, her mind was quite clear and optimistic. She was among the blessed and the fortunate aging matriarchs who were not afraid to admit that they needed others, loved others and sought their company. Not surprisingly, other folks were attracted to and enjoyed the company of Mildred.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE
by Fr. Jerome Ledoux, SVD

John Raymond Washington, “the son she never had,” spoke eloquently of his adopted mother at her birthday party. Born in Morgan City, Louisiana on December 11, 1917, of Elijah Granger and Cecelia Landrio, Mildred Granger was reared in Arnaudville, Louisiana. If you are wondering what people of color did for schooling in those days, it was very little. With schools segregated until Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka on May 17, 1954, blacks were relegated to their own schools of which there were not many and whose quality left a lot to be desired. Besides, they had to help with the family work.

However, despite her minimal schooling, Mildred had the common sense and the street sense so lacking in very many well-educated people. Credit that for the most part to her great upbringing by her beloved parents, by mandate our first and best teachers.

That understood, it is refreshing and amazing to hear about both the quantity and the quality of the body of work and activities that became part of her life. She made her own almost whatever of note was happening in the community or at Holy Ghost Church.

With Holy Ghost Church as her linchpin, Mildred was ever a livewire, lifetime member of that Faith Community, getting involved with the Saint Joseph Society, the Legion of Mary, the Eucharistic ministry and the campaign of One in the Spirit. Given to prayer, Mildred was often slain in the Spirit, going out for lengthy periods of time. She was very active at all the fundraisers at which she sold cakes, pies, dinners and was the perennial champion seller of raffle tickets. She also raised money for Mass vestments.

A lifelong member of the NAACP, Mildred received the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Distinguished Service Award on January 18, 2002. She also received an award from the National Association of University Women. Along with many people in the 60s, she was an indefatigable civil rights worker. She worked at the Maison Deville Nursing Home of Opelousas and later worked at the Delta Grand

Wicker Underscores the Importance of Conservative Voices on the Supreme Court

Nomination of New Justice Follows Major Rulings Protecting First Amendment Rights

Now that President Trump has appointed Judge Brett M. Kavanaugh to the Supreme Court, the Senate can begin its work on his confirmation. This process will include a hearing and vote by the Senate Judiciary Committee and then consideration by all Senators on the Senate floor.

Like Justice Neil Gorsuch, whom President Trump appointed last year, Judge Kavanaugh is an outstanding nominee to the High Court. His credentials include more than a decade on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit, and his impressive record falls well within the judicial mainstream. I am confident he will be a strong conservative addition to the Supreme Court, diligently protecting the Constitution and the inalienable rights it affords to every American.

The confirmation of a new justice to the Supreme Court is always a pivotal moment for our country, and Judge Kavanaugh’s consideration by the Senate is an opportunity for Americans to learn for themselves about his legal career and court opinions.

The decisions made by the Supreme Court for this year’s term demonstrate the difference one justice can make. For example, with a ruling of 5-4, the Supreme Court upheld the First Amendment rights of government workers who do not want to pay dues to labor unions.

The decision of one justice also made the difference in a particularly significant victory for free speech and the sanctity of life. In National Institute of Family and Life Advocates v. Becerra, the justices invalidated part of a California law that forced crisis pregnancy centers to inform a woman about state-funded abortion services, even if those services went against the centers’ deeply held religious beliefs. The ruling could have implications for similar laws in other states.

One advance has been in the field of travel, as our cars can get from east to west in only a few hours.

Where will it stop? Only God knows, as it is like a fire moving across a community.

Parents, not all care, because they are doing drugs themselves and just do not seem to care any more.

Parents who do care have a very hard time keeping watch over their children.

It has gotten harder and harder for parent to raise their children.

There needs to be a turning point to the better before there will be no one left. So many now want to make our police officers look like the bad guys when they are the ones to protect the innocent.

The primary purpose for the development of drugs was to save lives, not destroy them.

All I can say is that America and other countries need to crack down very hard on drug trafficking.

We need some good news and everyone to try and work together to eliminate illegal drugs and trafficking.

BWSD hosts FY 2019 budget hearing

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The Bay-Waveland School District Board of Trustees on Thursday hosted its FY 2019 budget hearing.

BWSD Business Administrator Jon McCraw said there are 262 personnel positions: 174 instructional; 20 clerical; 11 administrators; 21 cafeteria employees; 28 maintenance/technology; and eight other positions. Those eight include McCraw, the maintenance director, the food service director and the five board of trustees, he added.

For the end of FY 2018, 1,831 students were enrolled with an average daily attendance of 93.87 percent.

McCraw said for FY 2019, the total amount of revenues is projected to be about $21.7 million with expenditures projected to be about $24.3 million.

McCraw said the district's property values anticipated assessed valuation for this year is about $184 million.

McCraw said there are three sources for the district's revenue: Local (anticipate about $9.3 million), state (anticipate about $9 million) and federal (anticipate about $3.3 million).

One other source of revenue is 16th section land, which is leased to Buccaneer Park, for $6,400 a year, McCraw said.

The total projected funds from the Mississippi Adequate Education Program is about $8.4 million, McCraw said, an increase from FY 2018 of about $139,464.

The projected numbers for FY 2019's expenses: About $10.3 million for instruction; about $1.9 million for student support; $830,792 for general administration; about $1 million for school administration; $373,997 for fiscal services; about $2.9 million for operations; about $1 million for transportation/technology; about $1.5 million for non-instructional; and about $6.6 million for debt and building.

McCraw said the projected cost to educate each student with an estimated enrollment of 1,814 with an ADA of 1,695 students is about $11,919, with almost $7,000 of that going towards instruction.

In other action:

Architect John Stolarski spoke to the board about security to the entrance at North Bay Elementary. He said that the reception desk is located right at the front door, which "chokes down your egress."

One solution, Stolarski said, would be to remove the desk and convert a workroom and large office space into the reception area. The estimated costs, which included an inlay, is about $66,000, he said.

Thursday also marked Dr. Sandra Reed's first regular school board meeting as superintendent.

She thanked the board for the opportunity and said she is "up for the challenge and completely ready." She added that the administrative staff has "gone above and beyond the call of duty."

Reed said the assessment data is in, and is being analyzed now. She said there are high and projected low spots. There are also challenges at the elementary school level in instructional programming, which needs "drastic changes," Reed said.

"The good news is that our elementary administrators are completely on board and ready," she said. "Some of the changes we will make is, we had some surplus Title I money that we uncovered this week. We've used that to hire five reading assistants at Waveland Elementary. We had a music teacher that resigned at Waveland Elementary and we split that salary into two and hired two reading assistants to place at North Bay."

The board also discussed the city of Bay St. Louis' request to use the district's tennis courts.

McCraw gave the board an estimate for an electric gate lock at a cost of $3,300.

Trustee Mike Bell asked

McCraw, "why are we doing the legwork on this?"

"If the city wants to use the courts, shouldn't they be the ones doing the legwork to determine the system?" Bell asked. "I heard what Councilman Doug Seal said about the city sharing the costs, it would be my intention that they would pay all the costs."

McCraw said the district is doing the legwork because it is its facility and would like to install something that the district would want.

McCraw said the cost of a camera system would be about $1,400, that is without installation costs.

The board took no action on the matter and McCraw said he would gather a complete quote to present to the board.

The next school board meeting is scheduled for July 24 at 5:30 p.m.

low a number of other major cases in recent years decided by a similarly slim margin and demonstrating just how fragile the balance of the Court is. One of those cases was the Supreme Court's decision that the individual mandate of Obamacare amounted to a tax. Another case culminated in a 5-4 ruling to protect an individual's right to own a handgun, overturning the District of Columbia's handgun ban because it violated the Second Amendment.

With so many important issues at stake, the confirmation of a Supreme Court justice, who will assume a lifetime position, cannot be taken lightly. This is a decision that far surpasses a presidential or congressional term. I commend President Trump for his determination to put the best legal minds on the Supreme Court bench. He has sought jurists with a solid reputation for both their judicial capabilities and their impartiality when interpreting the law. Judge Kavanaugh has this reputation, and I look forward to participating in his confirmation process in the U.S. Senate.

Theatre (now Delta Grand). Like an Old Testament matriarch, Mildred Granger Carriere lived on until six months beyond her 100th birthday when God called her home on June 25, 2018.

The homegoing of Octavia Prince Porter was celebrated on Saturday, June 30, the day after that of Mildred Granger Carriere. Three steps behind Mildred at the age of 97, Octavia certainly qualified as a matriarch. Born on May 2, 1921 in Leonville, Louisiana, Octavia learned to pray at the age of 5 because she was afraid. All her fears went away when she made a commitment to God that she would pray every day, then learned the rosary and said it daily. As was customary in those days, as a mid-teenager, she married Antoine Collins with whom she bore four children.

After years of hard work in Louisiana fields, the Clintons moved to Houston where she outlived her husband and eventually married Cliff Garland Porter. They worked hard, took care of their family and were active members of Our Mother of Mercy Church in Houston. She was known as an incredibly kind, gentle and very loving woman.

Wife, mother, confidant and servant of God, she helped many people along the way.

Completing the cycle, they returned "home" to Opelousas in the late 1980s, joining Holy Ghost Church where they attended Mass regularly, serving, tithing and becoming a member of a sodality. Octavia read some of the Bible twice daily. With all this, she was an avid baseball fan and great cook who freely shared her dishes.

The third part of this triad of matriarchs, Lucille Chenier Williams, four steps behind Mildred Carriere at 96 years of age, was born on March 8, 1922 to Odelon Chenier and Alzena Harris. After walking down memory lane with Mildred Granger Carriere and Octavia Prince Porter, it is near redundant to write about the temperament, personality and admirable spiritual life of Lucille at Holy Ghost Church. The amazing thing is that Lucille and her husband Moses Williams, Sr. gave birth to 10 children who begot 31 grandchildren, who in turn begot 87 great-grandchildren, who finally begot 21 great-great-grandchildren. God blessed this matriarch Lucille with biblical numbers.

Councilman-at-Large Gary Knoblock wanted to know if the city would back-bill customers. Necaise said that option was completely up to the city's administration.

The company will also help to prioritize which meters need to be replaced or repaired, Necaise said. The cost of correcting any issues resulting in lost revenue would be on the city.

Ward 1 Councilman Doug Seal insisted only one director be chosen from the city administration to be in charge of the program and that the director be the only person to approve any decisions on the city's behalf. Seal also went on record asking to exclude all apartments from the audit as they are billed one flat rate, so the city would audit those independently.

Seal made a motion to move forward with entering into a one-year agreement to audit the city's utility bill services. The contract includes solid waste. Reed seconded the motion, and the council approved it with a 7-0 vote.

Favre also spoke of future opportunities: Passing a two-percent sales tax on food and beverage; and constructing a boat launch on Highway 603 with Tidelands funds.

Favre ended his update with a discussion on providing youth programs.

"We have to find a way to keep our youth off the streets," he said. "We need to provide programs for them. This is something we don't have a whole lot of in our community."

Favre said that Waveland is also looking for similar opportunities to provide for the youth.

"We'll ask not just city leaders, but community leaders and churches and everybody to work together to see if we can come up with a solution that will help them out and give them something to do," Favre said. "Get them off the streets and put them in the right direction."

The final installment of Coffee Call is scheduled for September 27 at 8 a.m. at the Diamondhead Country Club with Diamondhead Mayor Tommy Schafer.

Helpful hints at the boat Ramp

Yes, the fishing has still be great. We are still catching plenty of trout, reds, triple tails and sharks. I wanted to take this opportunity to offer a little help to y'all, before the fishing starts.

We all had to learn how to back a boat in. NONE of us are perfect, and some are better at launching than others. Our guides at Shore Thing Charters launch and pick up our boats hundreds and hundreds of times a year. We see some "interesting" techniques for launching a boat. If you plan on launching a boat this summer, and are new to dropping a boat in the water, here are some helpful hints that might save you and others some valuable time on the water.

- check batteries before launching
- make sure plug is in
- disconnect strap from wench
- if you are launching in a multi ramp area, and it's dark, TURN OFF YOUR LIGHTS. They blind other drivers backing down.
- load tackle, ice chests, gear, etc out of the way of launch traffic(far away)
- secure line from boat to helper, or have someone in boat to crank vessel.

SHORE THING FISHING REPORT

by Capt. Sonny Schindler

-once boat is launched, move it out of the ramp area, so other boats may launch.

-if you have mechanical issues, either get the boat back on the trailer, or out of the launch area.

-after launching park your vehicle well away from the ramp. Make sure your location does not block others or disrupt the flow of traffic.

Launching a boat, is just like using a Port-O-Let. Get in, do your business, and get out so others can use it. Please be courteous to others, and offer help if and when it is needed. As always, have fun and be safe.

Diamondhead Opens Two New Kayak Launches - Ribbon Cutting Set for Friday, July 20th at 10am

SEA COAST ECHO

The City of Diamondhead will host the official ribbon cutting with the Hancock Chamber of Commerce to announce the completion of two new city kayak launches. Residents are invited to join the Mayor and members of the City Council and other officials on Friday, July 20th at 10am at the Vaught Circle Kayak Launch, adjacent to the Diamondhead Marina just off Interstate 10. Residents and visitors can also enjoy a second launch now open at 94197 Bayou Drive.

This project is 100% grant funded, which began in 2014 when Mayor Tommy Schafer made application for funding. Funds for this project were appropriated by the Mississippi Legislature, 2016 Tideland Trust Fund, through the Secretary of State, Delbert Hosemann, and the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources. A total Tideland Trust Fund grant of $369,750 was approved in January 2015. The Vaught Circle Kayak launch was constructed using Sport Fish Restoration and Boating Trust Fund derived from excise taxes on sport fishing equipment and matched with the Tideland funds.

The City built the project following guidelines from the MS Department of Marine Resources and Federal agencies to insure impacts to wetlands, endangered species and habitat and the environment were minimal. The city's intent is to keep the environment in its natural state and let residents and visitors enjoy the natural beauty and wetland areas while traversing the kayak trail. Kayakers will be able to launch at either site and kayak 9.5 miles down Rotten Bayou / Jourdan River areas. Both park areas are open daily from 6am—8:30pm.

Stennis Employee Davis Wins 2018 Women of Color STEM Conference Award

SEA COAST ECHO

NASA engineer Dawn Davis of New Orleans, chief of the electrical design and software branch of the Stennis Space Center Engineering and Test Directorate, has won one of the most important honors in science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM).

Davis was named recipient of the Professional Achievement (Government) Award by the Women of Color STEM Conference. She will be honored during the 23rd Women of Color STEM Conference on Oct. 11-13 in Detroit.

"Davis was selected because she is among an extraordinary group of forward-thinking STEM experts," national conference Chair Monica Emerson said. "This year, the candidates were the strongest and represented the most diverse collection of executive professionals we have had the pleasure of evaluating. From managers to vice presidents, this year's Women of Color STEM candidates stand out as superior authorities in their respective fields."

Since 1995, awards presented at the Women of Color Conference have honored excellence in STEM and underscored the serious underrepresentation of women in STEM and at senior levels in all disciplines. For 23 years, employers committed to inclusion have chosen the Women of Color STEM Conference to exchange best practices and strategies on how to attract and keep girls and women in scientific and technical fields.

The recognition program is more important than ever before as just half of STEM graduates pursue careers in their educational paths. This year's conference will provide forums on the retention of women and girls in STEM, continuous improvement and networking. The conference theme, "Press for Progress," reflects the global push for gender parity. Just a quarter of the more than 5 million tech jobs last year were held by women, but the percentage of women of color – particularly black and Hispanic workers – in the industry stands at single digits.

The Women of Color STEM Conference is produced by Career Communications Group Inc., the leader in workforce diversity, working with all types of companies to help support them in promoting multiculturalism and gender equity in STEM fields (science, technology, engineering, and mathematics). Since its inception, the Women of Color STEM Conference has been a leading event for professional development, networking and providing a resource for women to feel empowered. For more information about the 2018 Women of Color STEM Conference, visit www.womenofcolor.net.

Sweet Lady was surrendered by her owner, who recently moved to the area, and has discovered that a dog her size is not permitted at his new residence. We are heart broken for 8 year old Lady, who has only known life as an inside dog, and served her human loyally and lovingly for many years.

Understandably, she is in shock and fearful in her new, unfamiliar surroundings. We are hoping for a foster or true forever family to come forward ASAP to ease this girl's anxiety, and give her a loving retirement home. Lady is leash trained and house trained, loves all people, and, thus far, seems fine with other dogs. She is a Hound mix, quite possibly a Walker Hound mix. Please consider opening your home and heart to this loving, sweet senior. Come by the shelter at 7175 Texas Flat Rd, Kiln, to meet this baby. alShe is so loving and undemanding, and will make a wonderful, loving, loyal, calm companion. Call 466 4516 for more information on Lady. She truly deserves a second chance.

DEVOTIONAL PAGE

IT DOESN'T MATTER WHERE YOU ARE; THERE YOU ARE!

It doesn't matter where you are at; there you are! What a profound statement. Have you ever stopped and really thought about what this is saying to us.

I have heard this statement several times throughout my lifetime and have really never stopped to analyze the verbiage in it. This is tremendous statement and has much more meaning to it than most people will think about.

Many times during our life time we will be at a point where we need direction. We may not know where to turn or what to do but something we can't escape is the fact we are at that point in time. It is up to us to do the right thing and if we have allowed Jesus to be in control of our lives then this seemingly impossible situation will soon pass. There are many families that face crisis because self-inflicted desires get in the way. Whether is a financial situation, a family problem, a death, an addiction to drugs or alcohol, or anything similar, we allow ourselves to become stressed and start searching for answers. Many times we will look in the wrong places or to the wrong people for assistance and create an even deeper sense of stress and allow ourselves to become depressed over something that can be handled through prayer and seeking the Lord's face. For Christians we have a promise that "if the Lord brings you to it, He will see you through it." All one has to do is read Psalm 91:4-6 to understand about the safety of abiding in the presence of God.

God knows us better than anybody and also knows the trials and tribulations that will come our way.

He is in total control and all of us that know Him personally understand this. Sometimes He allows us to go through these tough situations to remind us that He is our God and He is there for us and it doesn't matter what the situation is.

Personally he answers all of our prayers even though we may think He doesn't. Many times His answers are not what we want to hear. As a country

BY GARY ANDREWS
GARY@GADEVOTIONALS.COM

He is always here for us also. All we need to remember in recent years is September 11, 2001.

I firmly believe that this was time when the Lord allowed tragedy and pain to come not only to many families but to all Americans and a proud country. It is my hope that we learned from this that the Lord is in control and He will take care of us.

It doesn't matter what kind of turmoil, pain, health issues, death, or any personal issues we have, we need to call on the Lord for strength and endurance to see us through them.

Many times on personal issues he may not want us to do what we want to do, but will open another door which will always be better for us.

Prayer: Thank you Lord for the assurance that you are always with me no matter where I am or what I am doing. I know that you are in control and when I try to do things my own way and fail, you are there to pick me up and bring me back to reality. Amen.
